

US Economy 1919 - 29:
Chapter 9 Hot Seat Challenge

Learning Gain:

To have an understanding of the challenge, the research I have to carry out and the personality I will be hot seating.

The Joint House and Senate
Hearings
into the "Jazz Age".

From time to time the legislative branch of the American Government can investigate important national issues.

The most famous was the investigation into organised crime.

In a future lesson we are going to role play a hearing into whether all Americans prospered in the 1920s.

Famous celebrities, politicians, sportsmen and representatives of their communities will be invited to give evidence.

You will be those invited guests.

Your homework is to do some research on the person you will be role playing.

The focus of your research is to give some basic information about yourself and to state with evidence whether you benefited or not from the boom years.

I also want if possible for you to add to your performance with a piece of fancy dress or prop.

Stick one half of your homework sheet in your book and take the other half home with you.
